Predict Return of Meat Scarcity, Black Marketing

There will soon be much less meat on Mansfield store shelves and the black market will be revived, most local retail meat stores and butchers declared today.

This was the first reaction to news that the OPA decontrol board had reestablished ceilings on meat while exempting, for the present, controls over prices for milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products and nearly all grains.

As one dealer put it: "Farmers won't take lower prices, not even with the restored subsidies. We'll probably get only half as much meat as we're getting now and the black market will start up again."

Another pointed out that farmers will be in a difficult position with no ceilings on the feed grains they must buy in order to produce meat on which low ceiling prices will be set Friday at 12:01 a. m.

However, a third dealer said there is "no excuse for the black market and OPA violations if the ceilings are set at three to four cents above the June 30 marks and subsidies are restored."

"It's just a case of too many dealers and farmers acting the hog. They want to get rich overnight. I'm selling beef sirloin at 48 cents now but others sell it for as much as 85 cents," he said.

Nationally the reaction was varied.

The meat industry spoke of dangers that black markets might spring up again and that the public would find less meat to buy.

The CIO Cost of Living committee said the decision to keep dairy products free of controls "will bring greater inflation to the American people."

The congressionally created decontrol board also ordered price controls re-established on soybeans and cotton seed products, including salad and cooking oils.

Shortly after the three-man panel announced its unanimous rulings last night, OPA Chief Paul Porter told a reporter:

"Restoration of subsidies on meats means we can re-establish ceilings at or close to June 30 levels.

"This is the case on beef, pork and veal. We have not decided yet on lamb."

Officials said today that a plan under consideration calls for putting ceilings on live animals Friday, with a time lag in each case before they apply at the packer, wholesale and retail outlets.

If this procedure is adopted, officials added, it may be several days before retail ceilings are re-invoked.

On grains, the board held that no ceilings would be restored on wheat, rye, corn, oats, mixed feed oats, barley and grain sorghums, or any livestock or poultry feed made entirely from one or more of the basic grains.

Only on flaxseed and by-product grains did the board order reimposition of ceilings in the grains category.

On these items and in the case of meats, soybeans

BOY, 13, KILLED, 3 BROTHERS HURT IN CRASH

Man, Believed Mansfielder, Succumbs to Injuries in Lorain Mishap.

One boy was killed and three of his brothers were injured, two seriously, in an automobile accident near Willard early today. Meanwhile, at Lorain a man believed to be of Mansfield succumbed to auto mishap injuries.

Milford Right, 13, was killed outright when the coupe in which he was riding with five brothers collided at 6:30 a. m. with a car driven by Mrs. W. D. Hurst, 528 Park street, Willard.

The accident occurred at Grange and Washburn roads one mile west of Willard.

The seriously injured brothers were Orville, 11, and George, 8. They were admitted to the Willard Municipal hospital. A third brother, Melvin, 19, driver of the car, suffered three broken ribs. He also was treated at the hospital.

Two other brothers, Malcolm, 17, and Mitchell, 15, escaped injury. Mrs. Hurst suffered nervous shock, but otherwise was uninjured.

The Right brothers, sons of Eric Right, Washburn road, were on their way to work at the Celeryville muck. The three youngest boys were riding in the trunk of the coupe with the lid raised. The force of the collision threw them into the yard of the Gordon Austin residence.

Milford's body was taken to the Fink funeral home. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at noon.

Mishap Victim Dies.

Meanwhile, Lorain police today sought to identify two victims of a head-on crash Monday afternoon near Vermilion where Arthur Stone, 40, reported to be from Mansfield, and Robert Tirpach, 45, said to be from Cleveland, were fatally injured.

Stone died last night in St. Joseph's hospital, Lorain. In his pocket was a paper bearing the address: "356 West Third street, Mansfield." A check with that address here, however, revealed that he was not known there.

Police also were unable to find Tirpach's home in Cleveland.

All the children, the oldest 15, are reported normal and healthy.

CITY'S SAVINGS UP $4,500,000 OVER YEAR AGO

Banks Report 23.6 Per Cent Increase in Funds on Deposit.

By JOHN MINE

Mansfielders are saving more money—but they're also spending more.

A survey of local banks disclosed today that residents here have four and one-half million dollars more in their savings accounts than a year ago.

In addition, during July, money transfers by check through local banks reached an all-time high of $29,414,000.

The 23.6 per cent increase in savings deposits here is higher than the increases made by four other major Ohio cities, including Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Toledo.

This indication of the city's prosperity followed by a week an announcement by the federal government that Mansfielders purchased $613,000 worth of $1,000 and $2,000 U. S. government F and G bonds during July.

Increase $4,467,795.

Savings deposits in the city's four banks climbed from $18,913,238 in August, 1945, to $23,389,037 in August of this year for a $4,467,795 increase in savings during the post-war period.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Bring your needles to the Ohio State fair, boys!

Because of a typographical error, a sewing contest will be held at the Junior fair which opens Saturday.

Before the error could be corrected, the officials received so many entries from farm boys that they decided to go through with the needle-wielding handicap.

TOMATOES BIG ENOUGH FOR MEAL OR HAT!

Defending himself graphically against a statement that he "dabbled in gardening" Al Strachan, 270 South Mulberry street, produced these two tomatoes from his garden as evidence that in some respects at least his tilling produces titans. Left above, Strachan proves that the smaller of the two Italian acid-less tomatoes is big enough for a full meal. It weighed a pound, nine ounces. The larger tomato weighed two pounds, and was christened the "Lily Dache Beware." Reason for the name is demonstrated, at right, by Miriam Bauer, 237 East Second street, whose pose indicates that the tomato would make a "super" bit of millinery and not a bit more illogical than many creations currently being worn.

CARPENTERS WORK AGAIN

Return to Vet Housing Job, Other Projects in Four Counties.

Some 250 carpenters of Carpenters Local 735 AFL, working on construction projects in Ashland Crawford, Morrow and Richland counties returned to their work today after a dispute in a four-day "holiday" was settled yesterday afternoon.

Thomas Geddes, secretary of Local 735, announced the return to work after the contractors had agreed to make a requested wage raise of six cents per hour for journeymen carpenters retroactive to Aug. 12, if the increase is approved by the OPA's wage adjustment board. The board had already approved a wage hike of 12½ cents which brings to $1.57½ the pay rate of journeymen carpenters.

Settlement of the dispute restored work on scores of building projects in the Mansfield area, including the Vetsville project of 75 housing units for former servicemen, on U. S. Route 30 near Mifflin. Approximately half of the men had returned to the Vetsville project by noon today. The rest were expected by this afternoon or tomorrow.

As explained by Geddes and contractors who took part in the settlement meeting yesterday, the dispute involved a "rollback" order on the carpenters wages by the OPA's wage adjustment board.

Although a total wage boost $1.45 to $1.63½ had been requested

LEGIONNAIRES RETURN HOME

Back in City After Picking World War I Veterans For All Offices.

Scores of Mansfield Legionnaires, including 17 delegates and seven alternates to the 28th annual state American Legion convention went wearily back to work at home or on vacation today following the convention's close yesterday afternoon.

In the closing hours of the Ohio department convention yesterday the Mansfield delegation fell in line with the majority of delegates to elect World War I Legionnaires to all department offices for another year.

The majority of Legionnaires from two wars concurred in a decision that turning over of the leadership reins to the younger men would best be accomplished gradually in another year or so.

Don W. Schoeppe of Warren was elected without opposition to succeed Harry A. Eaton of Ashland as department commander.

Other officers chosen were Aaron J. Halloran of Springfield, vice commander, Carl G. Shaffer of Wadsworth treasurer; Rev. Kenneth S. Learey of Van Wert, chaplain; Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, national executive committeeman, and Richard A. Lindemann of Delphos, alternate national committeeman.

The protest of Ashland's Legion band against what was termed incomplete judging during competition Sunday resulting in Ashland placing second, behind Kent, was withdrawn at the last minute by band members.

Mansfield Army Wife Arrives In Tokyo, Doesn't Like Her New Home

'Been Here a Week and Have Seen No Hot Water,' She Says.

Mrs. F. L. Hart, believed Mansfield's first army wife to join her husband in Japan, has arrived in Tokyo with her three children, and she doesn't like what she found.

Mrs. Hart joined seven other servicemen's wives today in a protest to army authorities about living conditions at their quonset hut village, known as Palace Heights, although there is neither a palace nor heights.

The Associated Press quoted the wives as complaining that they were living without plumbing, screen doors, mattresses or carpets because they understood they would have to live there only until permanent units were finished.

"I have been here a week, and I haven't seen any hot water," Mrs. Hart complained to the colonel.

Mrs. Hart was leading her three children single file to keep them from falling into a deep ditch, yawning on one side of the path. She said she fixed the meals for her children on a hot plate because they could not eat the army chow served in the community mess halls.

Capt. W. F. Swope, a military government officer who is president of Palace Heights club formed to run the community, said he made "an average of two trips a week" to headquarters service group complaining of conditions but was getting "little or no results."

The wives said they were told they would have to live in the temporary quarters only until new ones were opened. Then the Stars and Stripes, army newspaper, came out with a story that dependents arriving in September would go into the new housing units and they would stay in their quonset huts. That touched off the complaints again.

GRAIN DROPS

Prices Dip as Return of Price Control Threatened.

CHICAGO—(INS)Grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade dropped today in the face of the OPA threat to reimpose price controls.

With openings of the grain market after the OPA statement, the trading was broad but prices generally were lower.

Corn was from 1¾ cents to 3¼ cents a bushel lower, while oats held steady or dropped as much as 1½ cents below yesterday.

There was no trading in wheat.

Yugoslavs Get Frank Warning

Byrnes Cautions Against Continued Firing on U. S. Planes.

PARIS— (INS) —Yugoslavia was warned by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes today that relations with the United States will be gravely impaired by a continuance of such incidents as the shooting down of American planes.

Byrnes "talked frankly" in the strongest terms after summoning Yugoslav Vice Premier Edvard Kardelj to his hotel in Paris.

American delegates to the Paris conference revealed that Byrnes "sent for" Kardelj.

TITO DEFENDS FIRING ON PLANES

BELGRADE — (AP) — Marshal Tito, in a speech published today, stoutly defended Yugoslavia's course in which two American planes have been brought down in ten days, declared the country intends to insist upon its sovereignty and shouted that Yugoslavia wanted peace "but not peace at any price." Tito said he witnessed the downing one of the unarmed American transport planes. The second plane brought down was a C-47 felled Aug. 19 near Bled. Tito was in Bled on Aug 19.

The Yugoslav foreign ministry in a note last night acknowledged that Yugoslav fighter planes attacked the transport and sent it crashing, probably with some fatal casualties.

VIENNA — (UP) — U. S. headquarters announced today that Pan American Airways had altered its flight route from Vienna to Istanbul to avoid flying over Yugoslavia.

ASK INJUNCTION ON LIQUOR SALE

Dealers to Seek Order to Permit Them to Remain Open During Fair.

The Richland County Permit Holders' association will try to obtain a temporary injunction restraining local law enforcement officers from enforcing a 58-year-old Ohio law prohibiting the sale of intoxicant liquors in the city during the county junior fair which begins tomorrow.

That was the report of G. E. Wehinger, out-going secretary of the organization which met last night to study the problem posed by the WCTU which reminded state officials that the ancient law is still on the books and in effect.

Wehinger said a committee of permit holders had been appointed to handle the situation. He said the attempt to obtain the injunction would probably be made today since the fair starts tomorrow.

The law prohibits the sale of liquor within a two-mile radius of agricultural fairs.

The Richland group's resort to the courts has the support of a precedent in Franklin county (Columbus) where an injunction has been issued to nine tavern operators who want to continue to sell

INSISTS RUSSIA KEEP HANDS OFF DARDANELLES

Officials Say There'll Be No Turning Back From Firm Position.

FROM N-J NEWS WIRES

WASHINGTON — The United States today rejected Russian claims to the right to fortify the vital Dardanelles straits in terms making clear that the issue may determine whether there will be one world or two.

The diplomatically worded note was far milder than the interpretation put on Russian demands by officials familiar with the viewpoints of President Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who directed the drafting.

They disclaimed any alarmist intentions. But they also made clear the determination of the United States—and Britain—not to permit Russian aggression to reduce Turkey to a satellite state.

This, they asserted, would open a gateway for Russia across the Near and Middle East to India and then on to China. That road, they intimated, will be kept closed.

Changed Conditions.

The note itself accepted Russian claims that the Montreux convention should be revised in view of changed conditions. It conceded Russian desires to keep the straits open to the merchant ships of all countries and to the warships of the Black Sea powers at all times. It accepted the thesis that, with limited exceptions, they should be closed to the warships of non-Black Sea powers.

The breach in agreement came over Russia's demand that the straits be considered the exclusive concern of the Black Sea powers—Russia, Turkey, Romania and Bulgaria — and that she jointly defend the straits with Turkey.

On these points the answers were:

1. "It is the view of this government that the regime of the straits is a matter of concern not only to the Black Sea powers but also other powers, including the United States. This government cannot, therefore, agree with the Soviet view that the establish-

THE WINDSORS will return to America next winter. The Riviera bores them. Their villa is still mined and they have to tread narrow paths, marked out for them. . . . The Robert Youngs, New Yorkers who entertained Eddie and Wally at Newport last summer, are abroad and have visited them. Young, a busines tycoon, has offered the duke a post with one of his companies. . . . It is unlikely that commerce will attract Windsor; even more unlikely that his family, which controls his income, would sanction it. Odds are that he will buy a house in Palm Beach, where he and his duchess have many dear friends. . . . This is of especial interest to me, because I campaigned to give a chance to the thousands of amateurs who are ambitious in that field. Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—A party by the name of Gerard C. Reilly—and that is a way of asking who ever heard of him?—has retired from the National Labor Relations board after serving five years. By way of farewell, he proposed four restrictive amendments to the Wagner act.

None of these suggestions is new and the four of them together couldn't begin to reconcile this evil monument to a time-serving old Tammany retainer with the Constitution of the United States and the principles of equal justice under law.

Reilly would reprive the board of its present power to prosecute and render final judgment in union cases in which it first appears as the complaining party. It may be hard for many Americans to realize that this is actually the present law of their country but that is the case, nevertheless.

That is what Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, and an ex-judge he, at that, knowingly fought for when he was steering his Hitlerian monstrosity through the senate and bowing with clownish solemnity to the left, which hailed him, with knowing derision, as a champion of labor.

It will be even more difficult to believe that, moreover, the decisions of this hot-eyed kangaroo court are final and not reviewable except when a loaded supreme court, at its own, erratic and motivated pleasure decides to visit the dungeons and watch the rats munch the martyrs.

The original board included Edwin S. Smith, of whom the Dies committee reported that he had been "deeply involved in the Communist movement in this country of many years."

"When his term expired," the committee reported officially to congress, "the president failed to send his renewal of appointment to the senate" because "Smith had made too bald a record as a Communist to have the slightest chance of confirmation. After leaving, he became first an organizer for the CIO and then executive director of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship." This organization was described as a Communist front.

The original secretary of the board, Nathan Witt, was cited in many connections by the Dies committee and a report to congress by the Smith committee, appointed to investigate the board, contained accusations of incompetence and bias.

He resigned and reappeared briefly in New York several months ago as adviser to a group of longshoremen of the American Federation of Labor who had been seduced by Communist conspirators to strike against their own union. The strike failed when it was revealed to the more intelligent rebels that they were being used to establish a beach-head on the New York waterfront for the combination of west coast Communist stevedores and Communist Atlantic seafaring unions.

Such, in part, was the original labor relations board knowingly selected by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1935 to persecute and badger American citizens, both employers and workers, to solicit complaints and provoke trouble, to prosecute, convict and pass sentence, and to promote the CIO and the Communist treason.

There never has been, even down to now, a pretense that this was an impartial board nor a denial of the obvious fact that defendants were presumed to be guilty, and couldn't be found innocent even though they proved they were. The defendants always are employers. There is no provision in Wagner's law that an employer may ever bring charges against a union.

As a remedy in this particular, Reilly offers the restrained proposal that the powers to prosecute, to try and to punish its own opponents be lifted and transferred to the department of labor. Inasmuch as this department also exists only to serve the unions, including the foulest rackets and traitorous conspiracies, the reform here would be imaginary, and in the normal course, the labor department's team of prosecutors and judges would be composed of the same stealthy, malignant bigots whose ferocities were exposed by the Smith committee.

The other two recommendations presented with such virtuous eclat are not worth the paper on which to discuss them, being trivial and more like diversions than sincere admissions of fault.

The trouble is with the Wagner act itself, whole and entire.

Hal Boyle — Globe-Jotting

By IRENE ANGERSTEIN
(For Hal Boyle)

BERLIN—(AP)—The big men on the campus of what's left of battered Berlin university are not known for their football or soccer prowess, but by the political parties to which they belong.

Therein is the great contrast between Berlin university students and American collegians. The contrast between the university itself and American schools is the manner in which party politics infiltrates into every dusty corner of the German institution.

Attendance at the three-quarters damaged university brings to some 3,000 earnest German students not only the lessons taught in books, but those which are learned in the rough and tumble politics of present-day Germany.

At Berlin university there is no joyful fraternity life; no chatting groups of gay girls and sharp blades between classes; nothing at all of the light side of scholastic life.

"Sororities? What are they?" asked a young co-ed in faded blue overalls who was pushing a heavy wheel barrow full of rubble. She was just completing her 86th hour of helping to remove debris from the school grounds, she had 114 hours to go.

The most fortunate students have their own books; other lucky ones have been able to bribe the toothless old 'librarian' who guards the blackened 50,000 volumes stacked haphazardly in a damp, low ceilinged cellar; the unlucky have only their classroom lecture notes.

More than half the students are freshmen. The average student is 25 years old; all of them have 12 years of isolation from the rest of the world to make up.

No part of the population observes political developments with more vigilance than these students. To them the present public emphasis on the 'new democracy' is just so much window dressing.

"In reality," said one intense student in speaking of the older generation, "they are still the same unteachable, one-sided hypocritical bunch they have been for the past 12 years."

"Teach us all systems, not just one, and let us judge through our knowledge," they beg their professor, although with little hope. As one student put it: "Our present teachers are such lousy pedagogues they never had to join the party because the Nazis never considered them worthy to hold teaching jobs."

The students concede they are too serious, but they remind you that they live in serious times. "Dancing is fine for young people who feel secure in the future; we do not," they add.

The Russians have demonstrated the importance they attribute to the university by assigning a Red army captain to deliver lectures. Students agree in general that the lectures are "interesting and objective" and presented in an engaging manner designed to win friends and influence people.

The students do not desire to be influenced yet, many look with pessimism on the future. "We know that if you preach one doctrine long enough to us, eventually we will embrace it," said one.

FINDS FORMER HOME PATIENT MENTALLY ILL

State Hospital Head Urges That Man Held in Attack Be Sent to Lima.

Dr. J. F. Bateman, superintendent of the Ohio state hospital at Columbus, has recommended that Homer Edward Ewers, 80-year-old patient in Lakeview sanitarium, be committed to the Lima State hospital for the criminally insane, County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said today.

Bateman recently examined Ewers, who is under indictment for the bludgeoning death of his roommate, Leotus Franklyn Gatchel, 82, on June 7, and reported to Lutz that Ewers, "in the eyes of law and medicine, is mentally ill."

The physician said Ewers should be sent to the Lima state hospital for treatment of the criminally insane. Lutz said Bateman's report and recommendation would be presented to common pleas court for consideration when Ewers is arraigned.

"The patient has a complete loss of memory and a marked irritability and assaultiveness when aroused, but is not basically criminalistic," the doctor's report stated.

Bateman's finding that Ewers is mentally ill followed a similar finding by probate court which was based on recent examinations by Mansfield physicians.

Examines Inmates.

Bateman has also examined Lewis Murton, 20, and Howard Nichols, 20, inmates of the Ohio State reformatory who are charged with the first-degree murder of Jamere Bruck, 18-year-old fellow inmate of OSR, last July 18.

Lutz said Dr. Bateman had not returned a final report on the mental conditions of Murton and Nichols, preferring to make a further study of his research. The two OSR inmates are in county jail awaiting grand jury action in the fatal cutting of Bruck in an OSR supper lineup.

Meanwhile, the Shelby mayor's court had bound to the grand jury William Cranston Butler, who is charged with grand larceny in the alleged theft of some $50 worth of property.

Herbert Demands Liquor Inquiry

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Republican Gubernatorial Nominee Thomas J. Herbert has called on Gov. Frank J. Lausche to ask the present special session of the legislature to investigate the state department of liquor control.

In a radio talk, Herbert last night charged the liquor department's record under the present administration has been marked by "laxity and instability, changing personnel, vacillating policy and disregard of responsibility."

Bernat Tells of Russian Treatment of War Victims

Members of the Rotary club yesterday heard John Bernat, Hungarian born, Mansfield artist, describe conditions in his homeland both under Nazi and Russian rule. He spoke at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Bernat, who came to this country six years ago, translated parts of a dozen letters from close relatives and friends to illustrate the need for help and to show that the people were today living under the same fear and want that existed under Nazi domination.

He stressed the fact that 72 per cent of the Hungarian population are of Catholic faith and emphasized his belief that "a return to living by the 10 Commandments would do more toward establishing a permanent world peace than all of the peace makers at the Paris conference."

A letter from his sister told how her husband was taken away, without explanation, by Russian soldiers six months ago and that she had been unable to learn anything of his whereabouts since then.

Another, from Eugene Haranghy, his professor at the Academy of Fine Arts at Budapest, told how he had been committed to a Nazi concentration camp and later liberated by the Russians and ordered to paint posters for the Red army.

For his refusal to do that he had been ordered to trial and was later black listed so that now he cannot obtain any work.

A letter from a hotel owner told of his hotel being under guard by Russian soldiers and how he must wait in line in his own hotel to receive his daily portion of soup.

All of the letters expressed the need for clothing and food and told how homes and the morale of the people remains as broken under Russian liberation rule as it was under the Germans.

Bernat expressed the belief that even sending gift packages to Hungry would influence the people to choose a government more like ours in the United States, if they should someday be given the opportunity to choose for themselves.

Turning his talk to this country, Bernat gestured forcefully to show his distaste for people here who are complaining of conditions or are daily "griping" about government restrictions or regulations.

He illustrated one of the reasons why he was thankful to be here and enjoying the freedom of living in America by telling of his amazement at receiving a refund on his income tax, a thing taken for granted here but unheard of over there.

This country will never become Communistic because the American people have learned to use and appreciate personal freedom, Bernat said.

The artist was introduced by T. J. Hanley, program chairman.

Preceding Bernat's talk Rotary club members also heard several accordian numbers by 13-year-old Shirley Lay of 478 Park avenue west.

First Christian church and its societies were bequeathed $1,600 and Hiram college was left $500 from the estate of the late Mrs. Clara D. Nelson of Mansfield, a will filed in probate court showed today.

Expressing a desire that the funds be used in furthering the objects and purposes of the institutions, Mrs. Nelson, who died July 23, provided for:

The sum of $1,000 to be invested in securities, the income from which is for the Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church; $100 to be handled similarly for the Ladies' Aid society of the same church; $500 to be invested in the name of the church itself and the income to be used in meeting the pastor's salary; and $500 to Hiram college at Hiram, O., as a memorial to her husband, Henry S. Nelson.

The estimated value of the entire estate is $22,000. Bulk of it Mrs. Nelson left in varying shares to 10 nieces and nephews. She asked that Selby Cole of Shelby and Dale Tulloss of Utica, O., both nephews, be named executors and the court approved their appointment.

Club Hears E. L. Heasley

Compulsory speech courses in the eighth and ninth grades of all the nation's schools, and the precedence of speech courses in the public school curriculum was urged last night by Earl L. Heasley, instructor in public speech at Senior high school.

Speaking before the Co-operative club, at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Heasley stressed the importance of teaching high school students to think, speak, and express themselves intelligently. To do this, Heasley said, they need the tools to do the job, and, he added "only a course in speech can offer the tools for speaking."

Compulsory speech courses would make for fewer failures in school, more pupil participation, and less general social reticence, Heasley concluded.

Initiation of a new member, H. E. Edwards, 86 Western avenue, preceded the talk by Heasley.

USES SAYS AREA INDUSTRIES NOW EMPLOY 16,000

War Vets Replacing Women Workers in Jobs, Report Shows.

Thirty-four Mansfield area industries will need an estimated 2,300 more workers by November, and more than half of that number by next month, C. W. Handley of the U. S. Employment Service, estimated today.

Handley said employment in the city area has increased 1,120, or about seven per cent, since May and now has reached approximately 16,600 persons. Of that number, about 14,000 are men.

The number of employed women has dropped rapidly, however, as they were replaced by returning war veterans, the USES manager said.

Ten major plants in Mansfield increased their employment lists by 2,100 in the year from July, 1945, to July, 1946, while the number of employed women dropped about 1,000 during that period, Handley's report said. These plants are now employing about 2,200 women.

In 30 establishments in the area the employment of veterans gained 28 per cent, advancing to 4,100 in July.

Vets Take Jobs.

Last March, about one out of every four men at work in the surveyed firms was a veteran, today the proportion is one out of every three.

The USES office placed 90 handicapped veterans during the same period, Handley said.

There is a critical shortage of construction workers in the area with at least 500 more men needed to meet current demands, Handley added. Among the workers needed most are carpenters, plumbers, brickmasons, electricians, plasterers, painters, and day laborers.

75 Candidates Report for Tyger Grid Squad Yesterday

Entries Coming In For County Golf Tourney

It looks like a wide open tournament with plenty of low scores anticipated.

That's the way the Richland county golf tournament is starting to shape up according to entries being received by the Junior Chamber of Commerce—sponsor of the event.

The 36-hole single day tourney is set for Westbrook Country club on Sunday, Sept. 15.

With dozens of former local links stars back in action on the county fairways, attempting to pick a pre-tourney favorite is out of the picture.

A number of entries are already rolling into the Jr. C. of C. tournament committee and many more are expected before the deadline which is Aug. 31.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the various golf courses and from last Sunday's News-Journal. Entry blanks will be printed again this Sunday.

Some of the better players who are expected to rate a good chance of coming through to take the coveted title are Frank Jocha, the 1945 champ; Joe Mayer, Nick Linster, Joe Kasper, Ted Etzel, Jim Root, Al Hager and Vic Salter.

A long list of valuable prizes will be announced within a few days. Local merchants and industries along with some individuals have contributed to the prize list.

To the winner will go a $100 solid gold wrist watch plus a trophy.

Entry fee for the one day tourney is five dollars. That will also include a noon meal, officials announced today.

Hurry Up Goes To Valhalla of Grid Greats

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Fielding Harris Yost, 75-year-old University of Michigan athletic director emeritus, today joined in death the ranks of a generation that made football a big time enterprise in the midwest.

Victim of an acute gall bladder attack at his home here yesterday afternoon, "The Coach" died not far from a college campus on which he wrought his own memorials and wrote his own testaments of victory.

The elder statesman of Michigan football, Yost had been a semi-invalid for the past few years following his retirement in 1940 as athletic director.

He came to Michigan in 1901 after turning out championship teams at Ohio Wesleyan, the Universities of Nebraska and Kansas and Leland Stanford university.

From 1901 to 1904 Yost turned loose a series of point-a-minute elevens that ran up a record of 55 victories, one tie and one defeat. The defeat, incidentally, was administered by Stagg's 1905 Chicago team when a Michigan player was downed behind his own goal line for a 2-0 score.

Yost, whose constant urge for speed and more speed earned him the nickname of "Hurry Up," considered the 1925 Wolverine outfit the best he ever turned out. It was quarterbacked by All-American Benny Friedman and included the three-time All-America end, Bennie Oosterbaan.

Barnes Draw Auditors In State Softball Tourney

Barnes Manufacturing has drawn the strong Ferguson State Auditors of Columbus as their first round opponent in the men's state softball tournament at Springfield this week-end.

The district six champs will play the Auditors Friday night at 8 p. m., Grant Ulen, tourney manager, announced today.

Always one of the state's ranking softball aggregations, the Auditors played in the National Softball league during the past summer but failed to make too much of a showing.

Bob Regula has been added to the Barnes roster to help Stub Winebrenner carry the hurling load. Gerald Schaefer was the second player picked up by the local nine for the state tourney.

Tire, Humphreys, Barnes Get Wins In Indus Softball Loop

Barnes Manufacturing chalked up win No. 8 in the Industrial softball league last night with a forfeit win over Tappan Stove.

Humphryes, behind the four-hit pitching of Dale McKinley, shutout Ideal Electric, 14-0, at Prospect park. Waldman, Parr and McKinley led the winners at the plate with doubles.

Although outhit, 9-4, Harrington Aircrafters turned back Mansfield Tire, 8-5, at Johns. Kenny Windsor did the chucking for the Tires and gave up two hits each to Bechtler and Griffith—a home run and double by the former and two singles by the latter.

Title Bout Outdoors

Promoter Earl Myers is hoping for a break in the weather for his championship wrestling show here tomorrow night at the Armory.

Set for the outdoors is the two of three fall bout with a 90-minute time limit between Junior Heavyweight Champion Johnny Demchuk and Whitey Walberg.

Demchuk will be making his first title defense here since he regained the crown from Bob Cummings in Columbus several months ago.

A grappler who gained a reputation for his dirty performances in the ring Demchuk reportedly uses cleaner mat tactics but goes back to the old ones when the occasion demands.

Bob Cummings and Jules "Speed" LaRance will go in the curtain raiser at 8:30. Both are popular grunters here and anything is liable to happen in this two out of three fall match with a one-hour time limit.

Talk About Jet Propulsion

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—It was easy to see today why so many American league batters miss Bobby Feller's high, hard one—it travels 98.6 miles per hour!

In a pre-game throwing test here last night, the Cleveland Indians' speedball king hurled a baseball at a speed of 145 feet per second to better the former record of 139 feet per second—or 94 miles per hour—set by Atley Donald.

An army measure device measured the speed of the pitch, from the mound to the plate, to within 1/10,0000th of a second.

Players Sent Through Two Long Workouts

By HAL CLAWSON

Minus the fanfare that goes with the big games—but with a determined spirit very much in evidence—Mansfield high's grid machine got fall practice under way yesterday.

Close to 75 candidates reported to Coach Paul Snyder yesterday morning and evening and little time was lost getting things moving.

Of the assembled group of sophomores, juniors and seniors there were 18 lettermen back from last year's eleven—an outfit that won five and lost five.

Yesterday was the first of the two-drills-a-day schedule that will be followed until school opens Sept. 3 and there is plenty of work ahead for the Tygers before the season opener here with Marion on Sept. 13.

Snyder and his assistants, Jimmy Lymper, Vern Hoffman, Fred Staub, Norm Henline and Bob Kennedy, didn't waste any time yesterday.

The morning two-hour session was spent mostly in calisthenics and getting the players organized according to positions, etc.

After splitting up the line and backfield, the coaches drilled the squad on early season fundamentals and then rounded out the morning practice by giving the team one play.

Some more of the same fundamentals were worked on last evening and then two more plays were added.

"We'll give the team two plays each day for the next few weeks," Coach Snyder stated following last night's workout.

The coaching staff was well pleased with the excellent condition in which the gridders reported. This will enable the squad to get off to a faster start.

Many of the players blocked the dummies and zipped through their plays in what looked like mid-season form. None of the varsity players took it easy when they threw blocks on the dummies.

Best news to hit the Tyger camp was the announcement that Bob Marth, huge 200-pound tackle, will be back in school this year.

Marth, who received honorable mention as an all-Ohio tackle in 1944, withdrew from school to enlist in the marines. He'll be back home in about 12 days.

Coach Snyder also revealed that Mario Layacona, who started the season last fall and then quit school to join the marines, will also be back this fall. He's a guard.

From the Tyger lair:

A good number of fans were on hand last night watching the Tygers zip through practice. . . . Several of the "downtown quarterbacks" were getting in the groove—but good. . . . Getting quite a lot of fun out of the opening day were the sophomores who are coming up from John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed junior highs. . . . And there are some fine young gridders in the bunch.

Ohio Senior Golfers Here For Tourney

Nearly one hundred golfers from all over Ohio will be here tomorrow and Friday for the Ohio Seniors Golf Association annual tournament at Westbrook country club.

L. W. Olson, Mansfield, is chairman of the tournament committee.

Eighteen holes will be played each day and all scores will be figured on a handicap basis.

Frank Pelton, Cleveland, is expected to be back to defend the title he won last year. He had tied with R. A. Stranhan, Toledo, at the end of 36 holes and the two veteran golfers had to stage a playoff.

One of the highlights of the two-day event will be the dinner tomorrow night at Westbrook for the association's members.

Now's the Time for Leo the Lip to Uncork Pep Talk; Pittsburgh Hustling for Der Bingle

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

Brooklyn stands in dire need of a fiery pep talk from Cheerleader Leo Durocher today with its National league shriveled to a half game after absorbing a 10-0 pasting from the rejuvenated Pittsburgh Pirates.

Stories that the last-place Pirates were putting on a closing surge to save their jobs under the new owners had been accepted with a grain of salt But since Frank McKinney, Bing Crosby and associates bought the Pittsburgh franchise, the Bucs have hustled to seven wins in 10 games.

With seven more games against the Cards and four with the Dodgers, Pittsburgh could very well prove a decisive factor in the championship battle.

Nick Strincevich, who lost his first seven starts in 1946, shut the door in the Brooks' faces, allowing only four hits The Pirates climbed all over Vic Lombardi and three successors.

The Cardinals hit into Johnny Niggeling for a 4-1 verdict over the Boston Braves.

The Chicago Cubs gained ground on both Brooklyn and St. Louis by whipping the Phillies twice, 5-2 and 10-2, but lost Second Baseman Don Johnson with a fractured left hand.

New York advanced to within a half game of the slumping fifth-place Cincinnati Reds with a 4-3 decision engineered by Dave Koslo with home run help from Walker Cooper and Goody Rosen nullifying a workmanlike effort by Harry Gumbert.

Boston's pennant-bound Red Sox divided a pair with the lowly St. Louis Browns but stretched their lead to 14½ games over New York with only 35 to go.

Jim Bagby grabbed his fifth win in the opener, 5-1, and Ellis Kinder of the Brownies fashioned his first major league success in the 5-4 finale with relief help from Tom Ferrick. Teddy Williams bashed his 33rd homer.

Both Cleveland's Bobby Feller and Detroit's Hal Newhouser failed in their attempts to hit the 22-win mark, Feller bowing to Washington, 5-4 and Newhouser losing to Philadelphia 2-0.

Randy Gumpert's eight-game win streak was snapped by Chicago as Ed Lopat turned back New York, 9-2, before a Yankee stadium crowd of 33,898. Joe DiMaggio collected his 20th homer in the seventh frame.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

All the world is yours to try for;
All the things you want and sigh for.
—Old Mother Nature.

Independence is a wonderful thing It means being dependent on no one but yourself, being free to do what you want to do when you want to—if you can Boys and girls do not become truly independent until they are quite grown up although they often think they are Some never become independent, but all their lives depend on others Aren't you sorry for them? I am

To the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest independence comes while they are very young, often only a few weeks old, and to some while they are still quite small Some are pushed out into the Great World to make room for others, and some of their own accord leave home and mother and father, thus becoming independent

Over near Farmer Brown's garden was one of these independent little people It was Little Wobblenose He was a grandson of Peter Rabbit He didn't know that Neither did Peter. He had been out in the Great World, independent, for a whole week He liked it There was no one to tell him what he could do and what he couldn't do, he could do just what he pleased It was a grand and glorious feeling You see he hadn't yet learned how little he knew and how very much he didn't know All the Great World was his, or so he thought

He hopped along with nothing special on his mind Suddenly his heart gave a sort of little jump the way it always jumped when he saw someone he didn't know He saw someone now, a stranger not much bigger than himself, not enough bigger to look dangerous

The small stranger saw him, stopped and stared The little Rabbit stopped, sat up and stared back For a few minutes they did nothing but stare at each other They were making up their minds about each other They made up their minds at the same time and just alike Each decided that the other wasn't big enough to be dangerous, and that was a great relief

"Who are you?" asked the little Rabbit somewhat timidly

"I am Chucky Who are you?" replied the other, a young Woodchuck Johnny Chuck's small grandson

'I am Little Wobblenose" said the small Rabbit, and wobbled his nose to prove it

"Where are you going?' asked Chucky

"Wherever I please Where are you going?" replied Little Wobblenose He was called Little Wobblenose because in everything

"Who are you?" asked little Rabbit somewhat timidly.

but size he looked exactly like his father, whose names was just Wobblenose

"That is where I am going' said Chucky

"Then let's go together I'm not afraid of you," said Little Wobblenose

"I m not afraid of you either," replied Chucky "I'm not afraid of anybody, not anybody in all the Great World," he added boastfully

"Neither am I," declared Little Wobblenose, but he didn t sound so positive as the other

"Where are your father and mother?" asked Chucky

"How should I know? I haven't seen them since I left home Where are yours," retorted Little Wobblenose

"I don't know and I don't care," declared the other boldly "I'm out in the Great World now and I am going to have a home of my own"

"Where?" asked the little Rabbit, suddenly curious

"Oh somewhere," replied the little Chuck as if where was a matter of no importance whatever

'That is where my home is going to be, too," said Little Wobblenose with an air of worldly wisdom that he may have felt but didn t possess

'It is fun to be out in the Great World and not afraid of anything," said the little Chuck

"Isn't it?" cried Little Wobblenose, then the very next instant, his eyes popping with fright he whispered 'What was that?"

Chucky didn't know and he looked no less frightened than Little Wobblenose Flip the Terrier was barking at Old Mr Toad over in Farmer Brown s garden

Barclay On Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

In certain very rare hands the declarer has a chance to make a particular fancy play in either of two ways That is so with throw-in maneuvers and also with some of the squeezes It is possible to have more than two alternatives, even without the action of the defenders influencing the course chosen One of the gaudiest of plays—the Vienna coup—in which a high card is laid down to set up the next card for a defender, then squeeze him out of it—can be done either of a couple of ways on some deals

	♠K 9 8 6 ♥9 6 ♦Q 7 ♣K J 10 6 5
♠7 4 3 ♥J 8 7 3 ♦K 8 4 ♣4 3 2	N W E S	♠10 5 2 ♥Q 5 4 2 ♦10 9 3 2 ♣8 7

Three declarers in a duplicate reached that highest of all contracts, by different means and also gave the hand different play following the heart 3 lead

First, notice what the losing declarer did After counting 12 sure tricks and deciding to seek a squeeze for the 13th, he failed because he did not understand the Vienna coup principle After winning the heart Q with the K, he ran three spades and five clubs, then laid down the spade K, hoping it would squeeze West In dummy he had left the heart 9 and diamond Q-7, and in his hand the heart A-10 and diamond A-J But he had to discard before West, who had the heart J-8 and diamond K-8 By discarding the same as the declarer West could be sure of a trick to set the contract

At one other table the play went the same except that before running clubs, South scored the diamond A So his spade K was led to the 11th trick, with dummy having also the heart 9 and diamond Q, and South the heart A-10 and diamond J When he tossed the diamond J West was squeezed between the heart J-8 and diamond K That made the contract The third grand slammer succeeded in the same way except that he scored his spade K before leading the dummy s last club He therefore used a club for his squeezer in what otherwise was the identically same Vienna Coup

Transplant Evergreens in Early Fall

The time to transplant evergreens will soon be here with the arrival of cooler weather and fall rains They benefit by early fall planting since it provides opportunity for growth of new feeding roots to supply the moisture that is required during the winter months

For use in the small garden or in restricted areas the Japanese yews are perhaps the most valuable and important of all the evergreens They can be planted beneath windows on each side of the front door or among the perennials in the garden

The upright Japanese yew, Taxus cuspidata capitata, is columnar in form and will eventually reach a considerable height if not kept trimmed back Its upright shape is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph This upright yew can be planted between windows and against house walls It can also be used as a single specimen or in a hedge

For low plantings the Taxus cuspidata is useful It forms a spreading mass as illustrated Like all yews however, it withstands hard shearing and may be maintained at any desired width or height It is an ideal plant for the low, evergreen hedge

The yews are valuable for their very deep green, almost black foliage This foliage is dense, giving the plant an unusually rich effect The scarlet fruits, which look somewhat like fleshy cranberries are extremely decorative especially in contrast to their dark foliage

OKLAHOMA CITY—(U.P.)—The Pentecostal Holiness church in Oklahoma has Satan by the horns

Bible lessons will replace floor shows and dance orchestras at a popular Oklahoma county night spot starting this autumn The church is preparing to occupy buildings of the former Abe Hale restaurant and night club near Oklahoma City The church bought the property for $37 500 from the widow of the club's founder Mrs Abe Hale

'A surprise eh?' hazarded the author

SELECT STOCKS SHOW UPWARD TREND ON MART

Decontrol Board Decisions Have Little Effect on Trading.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Selected stocks resumed their recover jog today although many market leaders continued to falter.

Share trends, brokers said, apparently were unaffected to any great extent by the price decontrol board decisions.

Dealings were relatively sluggish from the start. Advances of fractions to a point or more predominated near the fourth hour.

Increased or extra dividens, or climbing net, buoyed such issues as Twentieth Century-Fox, Columbia Pictures, Goodrich, Eastman Kodak, Pennsylvania Power and Montgomery Ward. Ahead were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, Santa Fe, Paramount Pictures and International Harvester.

Stumblers included Du Pont, Union Carbide, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber and Phelps Dodge. Bullard company common weakened on a deferred dividend.

Winter Winds Due Soon, Better Order Coal Now

An uncertain outlook for winter was reported today by Mansfield coal and gas fuel dealers.

Coal dealers advised householders to place orders for winter fuel early.

A number of "ifs" were reported in the gas outlook.

Various industries have installed "stand-by" units, or prepared to install such units, for use in event of necessity.

Coal dealers reported more orders on hand than they can fill promptly. They saw little prospect that the five-day strike of Great Lakes seamen would result in an early increase in coal shipments.

The lake tieup, they reported, had not reached a stage that would permit coal now being mined to be diverted into domestic channels.

Reject Requests for More.

One retailer told of calling seven or eight of his supply sources and receiving negative replies to his request for more coal.

More coal may be expected after the hundreds of Great Lakes ships tie-up for the winter season, but the amount of the increase will depend on whether the Solid Fuels administration permits dealers to accept more than the 72 per cent of their orders of two years ago. That is the limit imposed on them at present.

C. A. Hassinger, district office manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, said the winter gas supply would depend, among other things on the severity of the weather and on government diversion of supply.

May Switch to Oil.

Stand-by plans have been formulated by some Mansfield industries to switch to oil fuel in the event of a critical shortage of gas, Hassinger said.

With the coal industry still far behind in its effort to replace the millions of tons lost during the miners' strike last spring, Joy A. Herbert, district manager of the Ohio Public Service company, said that not only Mansfield but all cities in this area of Ohio are almost entirely dependent upon coal for the production of electricity.

Certain plants have converted stand-by units, installed for use in an emergency, but these wouldn't nearly handle the demand, Herbert said.

SALTY ROADS IN PROSPECT

State Highway Department Has 120 Tons of Rock Salt Ready For Ice.

A lot of salt, some 240,000 pounds or more, is ready for use in keeping Richland county roads open this winter.

C. G. Tugend, superintendent of state highways for the county, said today 120 tons of rock salt are stored in the state highway garage, 282 North Diamond street. More is on requisition, in accordance with the state highway department program to assure motorists clear highways when ice and snow arrive.

There is need for lots of salt. An average of 400 pounds is used on a single mile of slippery highway and there are approximately 120 miles of highway to be cleared out of Mansfield alone. There are 60 more miles out of Shelby and 50 out of Butler.

Tugend said materials for keeping highways open appear adequate but that some difficulty might be experienced should snow-clearing equipment, which averages nine years old, break down.

Nine plows and a motor-patrol grader are ready for action. Surplus spare parts are nearly exhausted and new parts are difficult to obtain.

and cotton seed products, the board said it had directed restoration of controls because it had found that:

Prices had risen "unreasonably" above June 30 ceilings.

Supply was scarce.

Price regulation was "practicable, enforceable and in the public interest."

Thompson said the board had received "reliable reports" that livestock prices rose from 20 to 50 per cent after controls lapsed, and that prices "received by packers went up at least a third higher than they were on June 30."

City's Savings Up $4,500,000

Cleveland reports that Mansfield was one of seven smaller Ohio cities to show an all-time high increase in bank debits from July, 1945, to July of this year.

The city's $29,414,000 volume of bank debits for last month represented a 28 per cent increase from July of 1945.

This also set a record for a three-month period, ending in July.

Debits were $85,063,000 during the three-month period this year to mark an 11.8 per cent increase over the corresponding period in 1945.

Other High Cities.

The reserve bank's report stated that most of the debits represented transfers of fund by check although withdrawals from savings deposits and decreases in U. S. Treasury deposits were also included.

Other larger cities which hit all-time records in July and during the three-month period included Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo and Youngstown.

Smaller cities which made record increases during both periods were Lima, Springfield, Steubenville and Zanesville.

Major cities where banks showed marked increases in savings deposits since June, 1945, were Toledo, 19½ per cent; Youngstown, 19.1 per cent; Akron, 18.2 per cent, and Cleveland, 17.6 per cent.

Hero's Mother Dies of Shock

TIFFIN — (INS) — Mrs. Etta M. Arbogast, 65, of Tiffin, died today of a heart attack a few minutes after she was notified of the death of her son, Loris Vernon Arbogast, 32, in a traffic accident near Dayton.

Arbogast's wife, an expectant mother, also collapsed and was placed under care of a physician.

Arbogast, a World War II veteran, on July 21 saved the lives of two companions after a squall upset their sail boat in Lake Erie.

Arbogast was killed when his motorcycle crashed into an automobile on Route 25.

VETS' HOUSING BILL STUDIED

Governor Reported Ready to Send Veteran Measure Before Legislature.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — House Minority Leader John F. Cantwell, (D.-Mahoning), said today he expected Gov. Frank J Lausche to expand his call for a special session to include "some form of a housing program."

Cantwell said he had no idea what type of program the governor would suggest to the session when it reconvened at 1:30.

Lausche talked over the possibilities of state housing aid at a conference with legislative leaders before the session opened yesterday, Cantwell said.

The governor called a meeting of the Urban Redevelopment Commission for this forenoon, presumably to discuss the findings it has made in its study of housing conditions.

Republican majority leaders, meanwhile, were attempting to get Lausche to open the session to consideration of pay hikes for state employes. Leaders planned to wind up the session tomorrow night.

RE-MAN SHIPS

Lake Carriers' Head Aserts Seamen Are Returning.

DETROIT— (U.P.) —A. T. Wood, president of the Lake Carriers Association of Ship Owners, said today the week-old strike of National Maritime Union (CIO) Seamen "has been completely offset by the increased rate at which Great Lakes seamen are remanning the ships."

The LCA said that only 45 of its member ships were now strikebound, one less than reported yesterday.

The NMU claimed that its strike to reduce the seamen's 56-hour work week has now tied up approximately 250 ships.

2. "It is the firm opinion of this government that Turkey should continue to be primarily responsible for the defense of the straits. Vital to World Peace.

The broad outline of the form the rejection would take had been known in advance, so the significance was in the readiness of top American officials to declare flatly, if privately:

There will be no turning back from this rejection—no "Munich-like" settlement with the Soviet Union over the strategic Middle-Eastern waterway.

The entire government, from President Truman down, was understood to feel that the Dardanelles issue is vital to the peace of the Near and Middle East and, therefore, of the world.

Concurrent with the release of the text of the note, a high diplomatic official said that if the Russians insist on having bases in the Dardanelles to the point of trying to use force "it will mean very grave trouble in the world."

As one high official put it, "the entire American policy is based on the assumption that the Russians intend either to dominate or to occupy Turkey."

Even as the strain on relations intensified from Trieste to the Black Sea, the navy announced that two of its top ranking admirals had left for Europe on a "routine inspection tour" that will include Mediterranean areas.

They are Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, acting commander of the Atlantic fleet, and Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations.

However, another court, also requested for an injunction to prohibit enforcement of the law until its constitutionality has been determined, has refused to grant the order. That is the Marion county common pleas court whose judge, Paul D. Smith, contends the law is constitutional and in effect.

Meanwhile, Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen today ordered the Marion state liquor store to reopen for business in spite of Judge Smith's court order closing the store along with bars lying within two miles of the county fair.

Sohngen said the old law closing liquor establishments in the vicinity of agricultural fairs did not affect state stores in the opinion of Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins.

of the board before OPA expired June 30, no ruling had been given by that time. In the period without controls, some or most of the contractors had granted the 18½-cent raise, or most of it.

When OPA was restored last July 25, the wage adjustment board ordered the rollback to June 30 levels, that is, to $1.45 per hour. Last Saturday, it was said, the board approved an increase to $1.57½, effective Aug. 12.

"Now the men have returned to work on the agreement of the contractors to make the increase to $1.63½, if finally approved by the board, retroactive to Aug. 12," one contractor reported.

Last November the carpenters' wages were increased to $1.45 from the former rate of $1.37

Geddes said the carpenters affected in the holiday are working on building projects in Mansfield, Ashland, Shelby, Mifflin and Bucyrus.

LOWLY SPUDS PROVIDE FIRST FOOD SURPLUS

Potatoes Pouring to Market in Highest Yield on Record.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The first big postwar food surplus—potatoes—is pouring into market these days in the highest yield on record.

This markedly larger yield was credited to generally favorable weather conditions during July and effective use of DDT preparations by growers in combating insects.

Among leading potato production states, California has displaced Idaho for second place, although Maine still is holding first by a wide margin.

Chicago continues to be the largest potato market in the world, with some 25,000 carloads received last year.

No Price Change.

Despite the surplus crop—second largest production in history—a government marketing specialist said consumers will receive no direct benefit in lower prices.

A government price support program is now in effect designed to place a floor under the potato producer's income and assure him of a profit.

A. B. Farlinger, department of agriculture specialist in fruits and vegetables, said the support plan was established by congress at 90 per cent of parity and encourages raisers to continue their output at a high level.

Farlinger said growers may, if they find they have so many potatoes on hand as to depress prices, call on the government to step in and buy up the surplus.

The specialist said the program will run for two years after war is officially declared ended. The amount of support differs from state to state.

Surplus potatoes bought by the government are given to public institutions for table use, shipped overseas, sold to distillers for making alcohol, or are placed in storage.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimates this year's total potato output at 445,026,000 bushels, topped only by the 464,999,000 bushels poured out from much larger acreage in 1943.

Last year's production was 425,131,000 bushels, and the 10-year average was 372,756,000 bushels.

Increased yield made the difference in totals, since acreage was sharply lower this year. Yield is estimated at 163.3 bushels to the acre this year, compared with 150.6 last year, and 125.8 for the 10-year average from 1935 to 1944.

Acreage is 2,725,600 for 1946, compared with 2,823,700 last year and a 10-year average of 2,968,000.

Maine will dig 64,500,000 bushels, this year, the BAE estimated: California, 13,000,000 bushels of late and 33,620,000 bushels of early potatoes for a total of 46,620,000, and Idaho 42,480,000 bushels.

Police Follow Slim Clues In Attempt to Identify Baby

Mansfield police were still without any real clue today to the identity of the four-month-old baby, abandoned in Ft. Wayne, Ind., and linked to Mansfield by an Isaly milk bottle cap.

One of the two tips given to Mansfield police yesterday was virtually eliminated, Detective Bruce Friday said.

It involved a report from a woman who said she believed she had a picture of the baby taken shortly after birth. Investigation proved, however, that the description of the baby given by her and the one abandoned in Ft. Wayne did not tally. A report was forwarded to Ft. Wayne police for a two-way check, the detective said.

City detectives were still checking the other tip and were hopeful that something might develop.

The second tip, involved a report from a woman who said that she knew of a couple who had moved to Ft. Wayne and was living with a family there whose last name began with the initial "E."

Officers pointed out that even if the Isaly dairy bottle and cap were connected with the case the baby still might not have been from Mansfield since the dairy serves a large area around the city.

The baby was found abandoned in a Ft. Wayne back yard last month. When found it was wrapped in blankets, one of which carried a laundry mark "BE."

TRIO FINED IN TRAFFIC CASES

Court Continues Two Other Matters For Hearing Later This Week.

In a brief municipal court session today three drivers were fined for traffic violations while two other cases one involving assault and battery, were continued.

Nick Harroz, jr., a car dealer from Oklahoma City, Okla., was fined $50 for operating a motor vehicle on license plates issued for another car. The court remitted $45 of the fine.

The court found John E. Beverige, Mansfield, R. D. 2, guilty of failure to display an operator's license upon demand and fined him $5 and costs.

Gerald John Nolan, Lakewood, was fined $10 and costs for speeding on U. S. Route 42.

Continued for disposition was the assault and battery case against Alex Pandurovich, 85 E. Sixth street. The warrant for his arrest was signed by Cora Lehman. His bond was set at $500.

The court also continued the case against Winfield Scott Bowman, of Perrysville, who was arrested last night and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. His bond was set at $500 and the case was scheduled to be heard tomorrow.

Promised trips to the moon are not expected to immediately relieve congested tourist traffic on the highways.

Word comes that Southern farmers refuse to raise bamboo—and anyhow the output probably wouldn't relieve the housing shortage very much.

It may be hoped that squabbling at the Paris conference turns out to be a case similar to that which Shakespeare had in mind when he wrote: "Sound and fury signifying nothing."

To Restore Meat Price Ceilings

THE PENALTY of greed is plainly evidenced by restoration of price controls on livestock and processed meats, which jumped to unbearably high levels immediately after the June 30 lapse of OPA.

What had appeared to be a meat shortage was immediately overcome by a flood of livestock to markets at record prices and retail prices were quickly boosted to a point that placed an adequate meat supply beyond the reach of low income families.

An interesting sidelight on the situation is that vacationers returning from Canadian trips report a plentiful meat supply of good quality in that country, with prices reasonable either at retail or when served by hotels or restaurants.

Just what will be the outcome of the "off again, on again" policy in this country cannot be foreseen, but it has become quite clear that government agencies are engaged in guesswork, rather than having developed any definite plan for production and distribution of essential commodities.

Carpenters Await Wage-Raise OK

STRIKES, work stoppages, "vacations," or whatever they may be called, have become such common practice in connection with government control of employe-employer relations, that temporary suspension of work by carpenters in the Mansfield area seems quite natural procedure.

It appears that carpenters and contractors had hit upon a wage scale acceptable to both, but which had not been approved by the wage adjustment board of the labor department.

It would be illegal, therefore, for contractors to pay the higher scale agreed upon and to which carpenters naturally felt they were entitled.

As a result, work by carpenters on the Vetsville housing project east of Mansfield was stopped last Friday and by yesterday carpenter work in Mansfield was practically at a standstill—new construction, remodeling, repairs, and all.

This is not as it should be, and the "vacationing" carpenters are probably as loath to be involved in such an unpleasant situation as are others who are discommoded by the delay.

The fault, however, seems to rest entirely with inept handling of such matters in Washington—which is so far removed from Mansfield that the incident may be regarded as no more than a minor one in the general bureaucratic confusion.

Russian Puppet Behaving Badly

THE WORLD is now reaping the whirlwind sowed by the U. S. state department and the British foreign office in deserting Draja Mihailovich and supporting Russian-puppet Tito in Yugoslavia toward the close of the war.

Dictator Tito now rules Yugoslavia at the behest of Stalin. The Russians want Trieste in Yugoslav hands. They couldn't get it at Paris, so now they turn to the usual dictatorial method of trying to frighten away the western allies. Knowing America and Britain want peace, Stalin and Tito gamble.

News dispatches reveal a state of near war between Yugoslav and American troops around Trieste. Yugoslav planes force down or shoot down American army transport planes. The army transport command is forced to cancel its flights. The dictators obviously hope Americans and British will get out of the Trieste area rather than fight. Protests don't bother them. Words mean nothing. They are depending on action and can be expected to say anything so long as their plan of action progresses.

Shooting down an American plane is an overt act of war. It is a challenge to find out if the United States means business in world affairs or if we mean to crawl back in our hole. The dictators have made careful preparations. Huge Russian armies are in southern and eastern Europe aimed at Trieste.

The catch is that Russia no more wants war than the western nations. She thinks merely that she can run a bluff through her puppets. She saw bluffs work in Manchuria and Ethiopia after the last war when the allies were afraid to "call."

Too Many Rats, the Doctor Says

CONGRATULATIONS to Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, on finally getting some action in the matter of reducing Mansfield's rat population, especially in the down-town section where these obnoxious, wasteful and disease-spreading rodents have become entirely too numerous.

As Dr. Wild says, it appears impracticable to quickly accomplish the "rat-proofing" of all basements to which rats are attracted by the presence of foodstuffs, and the next best bet is to destroy as many of them as possible.

Reports indicate that the planned method to be employed here has been successful elsewhere, but, as usual, cooperation will be needed in making it effective.

Stettinius Takes University Job

EDWARD R. STETTINIUS, jr., has a new job. The former secretary of state and the first American delegate to the United Nations has just been elected rector of the University of Virginia. This position corresponds to that of chairman of the board of trustees. It is work which will leave him considerable time for speaking and writing.

Many have wondered about the future of this talented man who was chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation at 38, and later the second youngest secretary of state in American history. He has much to contribute to the enlightenment of public opinion. The University of Virginia obviously gains by securing his services, and the country also benefits because Mr. Stettinius now has a sounding-board for his views.

The Detroit News asks, in a fretful sort of way: "Do you think the 1932 automobile is here to stay?"

Yugoslavia Gets Tough With U. S.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

ONE of the strange developments of these days of phenomena is the hostility which Yugoslavia has been displaying recently towards America, as witness current events.

The United States has sent two blistering notes to the Yugoslav government, charging, among other things, that on July 12 Yugoslav troops illegally entered the Allied zone around Trieste and fired without provocation upon American forces investigating their presence. Washington also emphatically rejects the Yugoslav claim that the United States was responsible for the incident.

Simultaneously with the disclosure about these notes, news came from Trieste that an American transport plane was missing after reporting that it was under tracer bullet and anti-aircraft fire somewhere near the Yugoslav frontier.

Only ten days earlier an American C-47 transport, which had become lost in a storm, was forced down over Yugoslav territory by fighter planes which machine-gunned it. The crew and passengers—one of the latter being wounded—were interned and held incommunicado until last weekend when U. S. authorities finally were permitted to see them.

U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson denounced the incident as "a wicked, inexcusable and deliberate attack on a friendly nation's airplane."

He declared that "only by the grace of God and the expertness of the pilot" did the crew and passengers escape death.

Well now, why should a supposedly friendly Yugoslavia—whom we aided and for whom we fought in the war—now suddenly subject us to the all too familiar direct-action tactics which have been cropping up in various parts of the world?

We can, of course, dismiss as poppy-cock any idea that Yugoslav sovereignty has been impinged on. However, the Yugoslavs—like most of their Balkan brethren—are tough and they are mighty suspicious, as I have discovered in touring those regions. Therefore we must make allowance for the possibility that Marshal Tito's government, being suspicious, is suffering from the Balkan jitters.

Naturally, too, we can't overlook that strong language and stronger blows could have been exchanged between Yugoslavia and Italy over the Trieste zone. Could it be that Yugoslavia has secrets which she wishes to conceal from prying eyes? The only answer to this is that it obviously is possible, though there is no concrete evidence that Belgrade has anything to hide.

We can wash out one thing, and this is any thought that Yugoslavia is trying to "start something" with Uncle Sam. That would be absurd. Still, it's quite in the cards that Belgrade is putting on a show of toughness in an effort to better her position in the Trieste dispute. Direct action again!

One of the most impressive aspects of this situation lies in the fact that Yugoslavia is very much in Russia's pocket.

All indications long have been that Marshal Tito constantly seeks Moscow's guidance and would as soon cut off his right arm as go contrary to Soviet wishes.

Thus it is interesting to note that Belgrade obviously felt it wasn't inviting a rebuke from Russia either for attacking our troops in the Allied zone at Trieste, or for making "a wicked, inexcusable and deliberate attack on a friendly nation's airplane." It remains to be seen whether Tito will receive a caution.

It strikes me as a fair assumption that at least one reason for Tito's hostility is to impress on the United States and the other Western Allies that outside interference isn't welcomed in the great Slavic bloc of which Yugoslavia is an important unit.

It could be, too, that Belgrade is trying to find out—on behalf of the bloc—how much bullying Uncle Sam will stand before getting tough himself.

Farmer's Diary: "Making Use of Weeds."

WE MOWED the tall heavy weeds of the early garden and while still green and full of sap, the boys and I piled them deep in a line 120 feet long and five or six feet wide. Mowed the acre hog lot where wild carrots, ditney, ironweed and wild asters grew high above the clover. This we raked and hauled by trailer to finish the foundation of our compost pile.

That same afternoon, the boys hauled from the stables heavy loads of manure, and spread a three-inch layer on top the weeds that by this time had partially withered.

Then, with a plow, we tore up some fertile garden soil and threw it on—an inch or two; from the garden faucet, we connected a string of pipe long enough to make it possible to drench the layers of weeds and manure and earth. When thoroughly wet, we threw on thin layers of ground limestone, agricultural lime, phosphate rock, and a finely rotted sawdust.

This process will be repeated until the pile is five feet high, and we shall insert three-inch tile, for vents, as the heap grows in height. Composting is still an experiment, with us, although the small heap made last year has been used to good advantage, apparently, on our strawberry rows; the strawberries have grown luxuriantly.

The aim is to manufacture humus, ready for plants to use. Good plant food is a balanced ration, containing organic matter, mineral, nitrogenous wastes and fertile bacteria-filled soil enough to act as leaven. The whole heap must be turned, after it has heated enough to kill weed seeds, etc., and the resulting amount of usable plant food is many times greater than the amount of animal manure used.

FOR two weeks past I have seen the swallows perched in lines upon the telephone wires or barn eaves — gossiping and preening, and whirling in sudden flights, six or more together, as though testing strength of wing for their annual journey. Something jubilant was in the air about them, an impulsive vibrant wildness in their twitter.

Now they are gone. The wires are bare. The lively bobolink, too, has not been around for three weeks or more. Down in eastern Georgia and the Carolinas, no doubt, he has doffed his black and white coat for the dull slate color that he wears as "rice eater" of that section.

They Taught Their Elders.

For National Boy Scout Headquarters at Washington a four-year-old mystery has been solved.

In '42 a hurry call came to it from the Air Forces supply depot at Presque Isle, Maine, for 3,000 copies of the Scout handbook. The books were shipped forthwith. Not until this month was it discovered why they were wanted.

Now it is told that no plane was allowed to leave the Maine base without the Scout manual, which is filled with information on first aid, pioneering, woodcraft, canoeing and outdoor cooking. Further, it is revealed that for many fliers forced down in desolate places during the war, the handbook was literally a lifesaver. This will be pleasing to the good Scout, but hardly a surprise. Truman Sees No War With Russia, Firm American Attitude Advised

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It wasn't advertised as such, but last week in the nation's capital came near being "Alabama week."

Despite all the publicity given the Missouri gang and the Arkansas boys who are close to the president, a number of Alabamans also have moved in on the White House, including capable John Steelman, the former Alabama college professor who is now war reconverter.

On top of this the governor-to-be of Alabama, gangling, six-foot-eight Jim Folsom, arrived in Washington last week and was the center of several important social functions, including a dinner at which President Truman discussed everything from war with Russia to Bob La Follette.

Governor "Big Jim" also paid a formal call on the president, was lunched by Henry Wallace, and by fellow-Alabamans Justice Hugo Black, John Sparkman and Lister Hill. He made a big hit with everybody.

"This is the first time," remarked one "White House attache, "that Alabama has had two liberal senators and a liberal governor—all at once."

The dinner for Governor Folsom was one of the most important President Truman has attended this year. It was given by Postmaster General Bob Hannegan at his home, and at the main table were only four persons: President Truman, Big Jim Folsom, Paul Fitzpatrick of New York, being groomed to take Hannegan's place as national chairman if he resigns, and Bartley Crum, California Republican who was Wendell Willkie's brain-truster and who served on the Anglo-American commission which Truman sent to Palestine.

Inner Circle Dines.

Others at the off-the-record dinner were: Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, Attorney General Tom Clark, Assistant Secretary of War Stuart Symington, Democratic committee counsel Ed Prichard, OPA administrator Paul Porter, federal communications chairman Charley Denny, Senator Hill of Alabama, Senator-elect John Sparkman of Alabama, Secretary of the Senate Leslie Biffle, assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ed Foley, White House naval aide Clark Clifford, White House secretary Matt Connelly, Democratic national treasurer George Killion, Richard Saxey of the federal power commission, and Leon Henderson, former Roosevelt brain-truster.

The dinner was staged partly because President Truman wanted to show insiders he was still close to Hannegan, despite the way he has snuggled up to Hannegan's rival, John Snyder. Around the White House they are still gossiping about the way Truman's special plane stopped in St. Louis after the Missouri primary to pick up Snyder, leaving Hannegan, also in St. Louis, to take a slow train back to Washington.

However, Truman made it up to Hannegan at last week's dinner, also went out of his way to emphasize that he was supporting Roosevelt's liberal policies. Toward the end of the dinner, several other guests, including Alabama's new Senator Sparkman and Henry Wallace, pulled their chairs up to the president's table. He really let his hair down.

War With Russia?

Asked about war with Russia, Truman said he did not believe there would be any. He said there was a lot of talk about it, but no good reason why we should fight. He was convinced, he said, that the Russians didn't want war and he certainly knew the American people didn't.

However, it was most important, he emphasized, that we take a firm attitude with Russia and show them we will not stand for any aggressive tactics. If the Russians find out we mean business, Truman added, they will come around to our way of thinking.

The president said he thought Jimmie Byrnes is doing a fine job in Paris and indicated that he backed him to the limit. He also said it is important that we operate fair and square with the Russians in order to dispel the suspicion which has existed on both sides. He felt this eventually could be broken down, and no other than to be born of a certain religion. They deserved a chance, and he was going to see that they got it.

"We better," remarked New York's Paul Fitzpatrick, "or else we might just as well forget about holding elections in '46 or '48."

La Follette's Defeat.

The conversation then drifted round to Senator Bob La Follette, just defeated in the Wisconsin primary. Truman expressed himself as deeply disturbed over La Follette's loss to the senate, adding that he did not think Bob made a wise choice by joining the Republican party.

"That's what happens," he said, "to anybody who joins up with Bob Taft."

Truman revealed that he had pleaded with La Follette to join the Democratic party, and had told him that while the Democratic party might not always be on the right side, nevertheless it had a pretty good record and deserved the support of all Progressives.

The president also paid tribute to former Secretary of Labor Fanny Perkins.

"I would like to see that lady get the recognition she deserves," he observed.

Abuses of Subsistence Allowances Stopped.

WASHINGTON — By one of those small miracles that sometimes happen in the last-minute rush, a bill became law which may save the federal government a billion dollars in the next four years. It all occurred so quietly that only just now have the professional veteran lobbies begun to realize what has happened.

The new law closes a gap through which hundreds of millions of dollars in Veterans Administration funds were draining away.

It corrects a major perversion of the GI Bill of Rights. Uncorrected, the cost to the taxpayers would certainly have been measured in billions.

As first told in this column, the so-called on-the-job training program of the Veterans Administration had become almost an open scandal. Thousands of employers were taking advantage of the law to "train" soda jerkers and elevator operators, paying less than living wages.

The veteran made up the difference with his on-the-job training allowance of $65 for an unmarried veteran and $90 for a veteran with a wife. Men earning $10,000 a year were "in training" for $20,000 jobs and drawing down their subsistence allowance as a kind of bonus.

Because of the peculiar way in which the GI Bill of Rights was originally drafted, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, VA administrator, believed he could do nothing to check these abuses. The law seemed to leave all the authority up to the states.

In the beginning, the number of on-the-job trainees was small. But it grew rapidly, going from 25,000 to more than 400,000 in six months. And the end was not in sight.

About this time Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, introduced a bill which would have allowed the VA to provide funds to the states so that they could establish training standards. Morse sent the bill to Bradley for his opinion.

Working with some of his top assistants, Bradley drew up a series of new recommendations. He sent them to Morse, who incorporated them in his bill. Among the sponsors who joined Morse in offering the revised measure were Senators Hill, Fulbright and Stewart.

Approved by the senate finance committee, the bill passed the senate with hardly a word of debate. Chairman John Rankin of the house veterans committee, reported it out without hearings and the house passed it after a brief explanation, by Rankin, of its objectives.

Besides providing funds for the states, the law lays down specific training standards which must be followed. Moreover, it provides that the subsistence allowance may not be paid to a single veteran earning more than $175 or a veteran with dependents earning more than $200.

This is in accord with the original intention of congress when the GI Bill of Rights was first adopted. The subsistence allowance was intended to be just that—a modest sum to help the returning veteran learn a new way of life. That is how some 650,000 veterans will use it this fall when they stampede the gates of America's colleges.

Similarly, veterans in training for skilled trades will make excellent use of the allowance. But it was never intended to be a bonus for returned veterans with adequate income from regular jobs.

This sweeping revision of the GI bill has already produced political repercussions. An estimated 150,000 vets earning more than $110 will have their allowance cut. They will all, you can be sure, write to their congressmen. Veterans' organizations have begun to make a noise.

But General Bradley can be counted on to hold his ground. He knows that if the 14,000,000 veterans out of World War II get in the habit of leaning on the treasury, any hope of a balanced budget and solvency will be out the window.

The general knows history. He knows what it meant when the victorious legions of Rome returned to the capital bent on spoils. It meant the beginning of the end of Rome's greatness.

Each time the treasury is tapped, the gauge on the inflationary boiler jumps up a notch or two. Only by a narrow margin did President Truman win his fight to pay GI terminal leave in bonds instead of cash. If the estimated $2,700,000,000 of leave pay had been handed out all at once, the result would have been registered immediately in the telltale indices of inflation.

Rising prices have already taken a lot from the value of the subsistence allowance. To pass out the allowance like a bonus would cause it to shrink still further. That was not what congress meant when the generous provisions for the GI were first adopted.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE NEWS that Hitler first began to think of war with us on Oct. 29, 1940 is shocking.

* * *

As anyone knows . . . we were too busy that day pulling the first draft number out of a glass bowl to give any thought to war.

* * *

Just before 16,313,240 men had registered for military training and the draft actually had begun on Oct. 29 Hitler seems to have gotten suspicious.

* * *

All he had to do was read the campaign speeches of the time and he would have known that his suspicions were unfounded.

* * *

He seems to have misunderstood our intentions just as did Tokyo when our friendly little notes suggesting that the Japs go home from Manchuria were taken as an ultimatum.

* * *

Even we have misunderstood at times . . . now Professor Einstein says he doesn't think the atom bomb would have been used had Mr. Roosevelt lived . . . up until now we thought it was invented to be used.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Man-o'-War"

Ships are always referred to as feminine. "The Fighting Lady," "Floating Fortress," and the like. Whence and why then the expression "Man-o'-war"?

The answer is that armed soldiers used to be called "men of war"—just as guns and other implements are denominated "engines of war." Hence, a vessel that transported the "men of war" was called a "men of war ship."

Eventually the word "ship" in this description was discarded and the characterization curtailed, thus providing an apparent exception to the rule of English language usage, by which the gender of all ships is classified on the distaff side!

BRIDAL VOWS SPOKEN IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Miss Ruth C. Wagner and Edward P. Kipp Marry Tuesday Evening In Candlelight Ceremony.

BEFORE the candle lit altar of St. John's Evangelical church last night at 7:30 Miss Ruth Clara Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Wagner, 362 Altamont avenue, and Edward Philip Kipp, 1015 Lexington avenue, were united in marriage.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Martin Wappner. Organist was Mrs. Helen Heston. Miss Lenora Gene Stotts was soloist.

Miss Stott's solos were "I Love You Truly" by Bond; "Always" by Berlin; and "Because" by D'Hardelot. Other nuptial music included "O Promise Me," DeKoven; "Wonderful One," Whitman; "Love's Old Sweet Song;" "Memories," VanAlstyme; "Twilight Time," Nerins; and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father before the altar decorated with palms, ferns, beauty baskets of pickardy colored gladioli, and two seven branched candelabra.

The former Miss Wagner wore a gown fashioned with a chiffon bodice and full double net skirt. The bodice had a heartshaped neckline which was heavily beaded in pearls in a leaf design and peasant style sleeves with tight bands at the wrists. Her bridal cap of lace and illusion was also beaded in a pearl design to which was attached the double circular veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli centered with a light purple orchid.

Mrs. John Keplar was her sister's matron of honor, while the bride's cousin, Miss Marjorie Schnug, was maid of honor. Mrs. Keplar wore a deep summer blue gown while Miss Schnug's dress was yellow. They were styled alike with tight bodices and very full skirts of marquisette. Their Quaker bonnets matched their gowns. Talisman roses and blue delphinium with long streamers of talisman colored ribbons formed their bouquets.

The bride's mother was attired in a black crepe dress with white and fuschia accessories. The groom's mother wore an aqua dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of gardenias.

Best man for Mr. Kipp was D. Keith Mong. Ushers were Robert J. Schnug, cousin of the bride, and Kenneth Gabor, nephew of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Prospect park pavilion for 100 guests. The table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Paul Kipp and Miss Helen Beilstein poured.

When the couple left for a wedding trip through the east the new Mrs. Kipp was wearing an aqua dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at Westinghouse Electric corporation. Her husband graduated from Madison high school and served three and a half years in the army forces. He is now employed at the Ohio Brass company.

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is Richard Aldrich, managing director of Theater Incorporated and producer at the famous Cape Playhouse at Dennis on Cape Cod.

THE STRAW HAT ATOMIC AGE. Summer theaters have gone a long way since the days of the old red barn, refurnished with benches and a makeshift platform for the sole purpose of providing a proving ground for untested talents. But they're still just as much fun, hard work, headaches and a contribution to the American theater.

Of course, the first Summer theater, literally speaking, was opened on July 9, 1800, and located on Broadway and Leonard St. It was called the Mount Vernon Gardens. But Summer theaters as we know them today, with their resident companies and visiting stars, took shape during the Twenties, immediately following in the footsteps of an itinerant touring company called the Jitney Players. Wherever the Jitney Players pitched their tents and set up their equipment a Summer theater was built soon after.

Instead of the old red barn with the creaking walls and leaking rooftop, today's Summer theaters are either beautiful white buildings (no longer located in a cow pasture but in the midst of a floral setting that outclasses a Technicolor movie idyllic love scene), or they are town hall auditoriums or even actual theaters set right in the midst of a large city.

The latter's only claim to the title of "Summer theater" is that they are theaters functioning during the Summer months.

The excitement that goes into a new opening night every week is a thrill that needs no explanation—except to the actors who accomplish it every Summer and wonder during the Winter months how they ever did it.

The Summer theater I know most about is the Cape Playhouse at Dennis, Mass. For me, it holds wonderful memories. And I think it does for many others as well. Stars find great pleasure in playing in the rural setting. Gladys Cooper recently drove 3,000 miles from California with her daughter Sally just to play one week in Summer stock. In 1941 Moss Hart took an excursion into acting and played Sheridan Whiteside in his own "The Man Who Came To Dinner." He had so much fun he's played it many times since.

There must be something to it. Certainly not financial gain-most stars engagements bring them a fraction of what they might make on Broadway or in Hollywood.

And it's so difficult to determine why people like Jane Cowl, Maude Adams, Ilka Chase, Ruth Gordon, Basil Rathbone, Paul Robeson, Ethel Barrymore, Gene Raymond, Eva Le Gallienne and Ina Claire should doff their acting crowns in the theatrical centers and descend from their pedestals for one week at the Cape Playhouse.

Perhaps they like the Cape Cod bathing and find a visit to the Summer theater a good opportunity to pursue. Maybe they approve of the audiences.

Maybe they want a change from carbon-monoxide perfumed New York or the lethargic atmosphere of Hollywood.

But Summer theater work is not all a lark. It's a grueling task that repeats itself every week for everyone concerned. The apprentices—who neither pay nor get paid for helping out—are constantly on the go from morning until midnight, assisting professionals in painting scenery, sweeping the theater, mending costumes, shifting flats, lifting the curtain and occasionally playing a minor role. The actors, director and set designer also have the difficult chore of putting on a professional production ten times during a season, with just six days of rehearsal for each show.

And as for the headaches! They never end. Nothing runs smoothly at a Summer theatre. The star arrives a day before she's expected and gets a bad impression of the organization Several years ago when Ethel Barrymore played at the Cape Playhouse her arrival was meant to be an auspicious one Gala arrangements were made for the welcome. But somehow she arrived in the middle of the preceding night. If a couple of stay-ups had not noticed her wandering around the theatre grounds in the dark the great lady might have had to pitch her own tent on the grass.

The outstanding reason-for-being of the Summer playhouse is its contribution on the American theatre By reviving worthwhile plays that sometimes gather dust on the top shelves of the drama library the Summer theatre is perpetuating its own culture. It brings the pleasure of theatregoing to audiences who don't always live near the drama centers of New York, Chicago or Boston. It allows directors to experiment and keep their creative faculties sharpened by new productions. It provides established actors with a livelihood during the slack Summer months It gives producers, agents and directors a chance to scout for performers. And it offers young actors opportunities to act.

Clergyman Approves Pew Rules

By EMILY POST

The following letter is from a clergyman: "I notice your answer to the complaint of someone who criticized occupants of end seats in church pews who are unwilling to give up these seats to latecomers. You told this person that the owner of the pew has a right to that seat and that the head of a family who comes early and takes this end seat is not obligated to give it up to late-comers. Naturally, as you said, one should readily admit late-comers to the pew if there is room left in it

This answer was so reasonable, as to deserve commendation. However, I know that some of these unreasonable late-comers will continue, even as they have always done, to demand that end seats be vacated for them. I believe, therefore, that your answer should be repeated at intervals. When people are seated promiscuously at a table, each one taking whichever seat he prefers, it would be the height of impropriety for someone then to ask him to give it up When a queue is formed in a store or theater, it certainly is not the proper thing to request someone to give up his place to a latecomer."

There is, of course, no answer to this further than thanking the clergyman for his kind letter of approval.

Dear Mrs. Post: What is your opinion of my wearing my wedding dress and veil at our 25th wedding anniversary celebration? My children want me to wear the whole costume and I think it would be unsuitable now, but I want to please them if possible.

Answer: If you are so fortunate as to find the dress still fits, I think it would be a perfect idea! You could wear the veil, too, if the party includes none but the family and oldest friends who naturally would be much interested in seeing your complete costume. But if you are having a formal reception, the veil would be unsuitable.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is a lace tablecloth merely for ornament or may it be eaten on?

Answer: It may be eaten on, of course. No kind of white tablecloth is a proper table cover for ornament — meaning between meals

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, August 22.

The indications are for a curious state of affairs in which the subtle, intriguing and inexplicable may tax the ingenuity and skill There may be complexities and problems too difficult to unravel without the aid and keener vision and sympathetic understanding of elders, superiors or possibly those in authority.

With such direction or stabilizing influence it may be that pitfalls and snares may be avoided. Keep alert to all dubious involvements and emotional flares.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which singular under-currents or strange adventures may over-shadow all more realistic and practical endeavors. Intrigue, duplicity, perhaps sinister and seductive forces, are at the root of strange adventures and experiences.

These may be negatived or vanquished by the good offices of elders, superiors or others of sound experience and wise vision. Perplexities, and crises may be unraveled by sound judgment and suppression of curious emotional urges Shun the weird and uncanny in all relations.

A child born on this day may be highly emotional and temperamental, its aspirations and intuitions keen but needing stern regulation by those of sound judgment and common sense.

AWVs Official Aides Service Wives to Join Husbands

By ADELAIDE KERR

The plump, pink-cheeked wife of the private now serving with the American Army of Occupation in Germany, spoke calmly, but her heart was beating a nervous tattoo.

"The children and I want to join my husband in Germany as soon as we can," she was saying. "We have four children from five to nine years old, including twins. We live on my husband's pay and dependents allowance — he keeps $28 a month and altogether I get $140. But I know we can manage the money part.

"It's a lot of other things that puzzle me. How much luggage are we allowed and what kind of clothing should we take? Can we take our furniture and do the children have to have immunization shots? Could you help me?"

She spoke to Miss Marion S. Gans, chairman of rehabilitation programs of the American Women's Voluntary Services in Greater New York, who founded recently a new type of "travel bureau" to help servicemen's wives who are going overseas to join their husbands.

Swiftly Miss Gans gave the wife the information she needed, compiled from such sources as the Army Service Forces, Port of Embarkation, Second Service Command, and Army Personal Affairs. It covered a score of points such as transportation to the embarkation area, passports, personal baggage, household effects, clothing, laundry, postal information, pets and immunization shots which are required.

Miss Gans is a slender little woman with friendly grey eyes, to whom people just naturally tell their troubles. The service she founded for Greater New York is known as Information Service for Army Dependents Proceeding Overseas and is authorized by the war department. Mrs. Richard A. Pratel, good-looking, dark-eyed, dark-haired wife of a New York merchant, heads the Manhattan division.

The demand for the service has increased so greatly since its launching that AWVS now operates it in 27 other points, including Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Atlantic City, Albany, Cleveland, St. Louis, Tulsa, New Orleans, San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, Indianapolis, Wichita, Omaha, Butte, Mont.; Fairbanks, Alaska; Altoona, Pa.; Trenton, N. J.; Kearny, N. J.; Summit, N. J.; Harding Township, N. J.; Roslyn, N. Y.; East Rockaway, N. Y., and Xenia, Ohio.

Both Miss Gans and Mrs. Pratel get many requests they cannot fulfill. The pretty blonde wife of a sergeant wanted the AWVS to get her a goat to take overseas because, she said, her baby could not take the canned milk which is supplied by the army (since the American army of occupation does not live off the German land) . . . An auburn haired divorcee wanted help in getting to Europe so she could remarry her former husband. . . . A blue-eyed 18-year-old begged Miss Gans to arrange her trip to Germany so she could become engaged to her boy friend, and a business girl wanted the AWVS to arrange her marriage by proxy (The AWVS could not tackle any of these problems, since all requests for families to be sent overseas must be made by the soldier himself to his commanding officer)

But Miss Gans and Mrs. Pratel helped more than 100 other women straighten out scores of perplexing details and smoothed their moves from a country of comparative plenty to one ravaged by war. The wife who gave them the biggest chuckle was the one who insisted on sending a crate of hatching eggs to her husband in Germany, so she would have chickens when she arrived.

Washington Letter

—By Jane Eads

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON —The lobby of one of the capital's oldest and stateliest hotels was thrown into panic one late breakfast hour recently.

Something, with a silent sudden rush, sideswiped the ornate crystal chandelier.

A swooping black thing swept past the bell captain's desk It stopped for a moment, as if to register, uninvited.

About that time page boy Joe Johnson yanked off his cap. He handed it over with his watch and wallet to the bell captain.

The chase was on. The beautiful old lobby took on the atmosphere of a high school stunt night show. Guests gaped, pulled, dodged and shrieked as Joe darted crazily through the room.

Finally Joe bagged the "thing" with a broom.

It was a bat!

"In my 20 years at the hotel," Joe said, shaking his head, "I never saw anything like this"

WOMEN are more interested in politics and government today than ever before in our history. That's what Miss Jane Hamilton, young assistant director, women's division, Republican national committee, says. She adds:

"They know that their homes cannot be protected entirely from within—know that their voices must be heard, their ideals felt, in public affairs.

"They know they must be informed on public problems, because today government touches their lives directly"

Miss Hamilton says women are taking a practical approach to good government, realizing that they can best influence government through their political party affiliations

THE Red Cross says that 7,000 Americans drown each year from May through August. The majority are incompletely swim-trained persons, over-estimating their abilities.

Water safety experts say that only 10 per cent of our fellow citizens swim well, 40 per cent can take care of themselves in water; and 50 per cent can't swim at all.

ACCORDING to the Red Cross there are about 80,000,000 Americans in swimming this summer. Only about seven percent of them are really safe.

Statistics show that 368 percent of all drowning victims in this country last year were of school age. Approximately 75 percent of all drownings occur within 60 feet of safety.

Thomas Crawford, the father of F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, designed her in his studio in Rome. He received $3,000 for the plaster model which was shipped to this country on April 19, 1858, on the bark "Emily Taylor."

The bark sprang a leak and put in for repairs at Gibraltar. Starting forth again, it sprung more leaks. Some of the cargo was tossed overboard. The bark put in at Bermuda, where it was condemned and sold.

Freedom began to arrive from Bermuda in pieces. Part of her came in December 1858. Along about March 1859 the last piece arrived. Then the Civil war delayed the casting of the statue in bronze by Clark Mills, of Washington

Finally the great day arrived for hoisting the lady to the top of the dome. At noon, Dec. 2, 1863, the ceremony began. The statue was in five sections. Four had already been adjusted to their place. The fifth, which was the shoulders and head.

A special war department order, No. 248, provided that at the moment the lady found her head and a flag was unfurled from the statue a national salute of 35 guns should be fired from a field battery on Capitol Hill.

When the last gun was fired it was answered by a similar salute from 12 forts surrounding the city of Washington.

BELL FOR LIDICE

PRAGUE —(UP)— One of the largest single contributions toward reconstruction of Lidice has been received from citizens of Bombay, India. A miniature replica of the Czech village, with a tiny church and belfry, was set up in a Bombay square. Each contributor was allowed to ring the Lidice bell. The bell accompanied the cash gift sent to Prague.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4 If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

COUNCIL VOTES $76,000 GALION BUDGET BILL

'46 Measure Represents Jump of $13,000 Over This Year's Figure.

GALION—The 1947 city budget was accepted by city council Tuesday night. The general fund for next year calls for $76,000 as compared with $63,000 this year.

In addition, there is a bond retirement fund of $16,350, to be paid on the city hospital, city hall, the new hospital addition, and the sewage disposal.

The firemen's pension and police relief funds both ask for three-tenths of a mill this year, while last year the firemen's fund was three-tenths of a mill and the police fund was only two-tenths of a mill.

After considerable discussion, council granted the Galion Youth center the use of the room in the city building formerly occupied by the Red Cross and the ration board. The Youth center will probably move in about Sept. 1.

An ordinance was passed to transfer $1500 from the lands, buildings and equipment fund, to the light fund for the purchase of a voltage regulator for the electric light plant.

A resolution was passed to transfer $400 from the firemen's alarm system for the Eastside playground fund.

Eleven property owners petitioned council for installation of a new sewer on Murray and High street. This was referred to the street and sewer committee of council.

City Solicitor Francis Shumaker was authorized to draw up the necessary legislation to purchase additional land for the city water works. The solicitor was also authorized to draw up legislation to bond the power shovel operators who will be doing work in Galion.

Some time was spent in discussion of the installation of sewers in new additions of the city.

HOSPITAL NOTES

GALION—A daughter was born Tuesday at City hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hurlow of South Union street.

Admissions: Mrs. Minnie Finical of South street; Mrs. Alice Oney of Crestline. Releases, Fred Sautter, Galion, R. D. 2; Ione Kersh, Galion; Mrs. Donald Caldwell and baby, Galion, R. D. 1.

New London Council Studies Plan to Enlarge City Building

NEW LONDON — A 1,000-foot extension to the village sewer lines and the proposed enlarging of the present municipal building, were the chief items of business at the meeting of council Monday night.

The sewer line extension, which has been under consideration for several weeks, will bring sewer connections to residents of New London avenue and a portion of South Main street not now serviced. In addition, this extension is expected to pave the way for an additional extension of approximately 2,000 feet farther south later this year or early next year, when the new Watts allotment is opened for residential building. This move will also make way for the laying of water and gas lines some of which are not now available to property owners and in other cases will replace temporary, inadequate lines.

Council was told that the city building must be enlarged and modernized or a new one will have to be built. Additional land would be required if rebuilding plan goes through and Mayor White appointed Councilman Fred Dill, who is also secretary of the First Methodist church board of trustees, and Council President Ray E. Johnson to meet with the trustees to attempt to secure a strip of church ground, now forming part of an alley between the church and city hall.

The fire house would be moved forward, facing Main street, with facilities for two trucks side by side and all other public conveniences, city jail, etc., would be modernized accordingly.
